Overthrown. You have wrestled well, and overthrown more than your enemies As Y. L. L.	1	2	227	1	44
— O poor Orlando! thou art overthrown, or Charles, or something weaker, masters thee Overture. Without more overture
— It was he that made the overture of thy treasons to us Over-ween. Mowbray, you over-ween, to take it so — Thou dost over-ween in all
Over-weening. Upon this over-weening traitor's foot
— rags of France
Over-whelming brows
Ought. Said this other day, you ought him a thousand pound
Ovidius Naso was the man; and why, indeed, Naso , but for smelling out the odoriferous flowers of fancy
Ovid. I am here with thee and thy goats, as the most capricious poet, honest Ovid, was among the Goths — As Ovid be an out-cast quite abjur'd
— 'Tis Ovid's Metamorphosis
Ounce.
Ouphes. Like urchins, ouphes, and fairies green and white
— Strew good luck, ouphes, on every sacred room
Ousel.
Out three years old
—, alas! you'd be so lean
— with it boldly, man
— But, out, alas! we bod'd again
—, devil! I remember them too well
— I honour him even out of your report
Out-crafted. That drug-damn'd Italy hath out-crafted him
Out-dares. O noble fellow! who, sensible, out-dares his senseless sword
Out of door. All of her, that is out of door, most rich
Out-face. We shall have old swearing, that they did give the rings away to men; but we'll out-face them, and out-swear them too
Out-fac'd. Then did we two set on you four; and with a word, out-fac'd you from your prize
Out-facing boys
Out-goes. He out-goes the very heart of kindness
Out of hand. We will proclaim you out of hand
Out-law. D. P.
— A poor unminded out-law sneaking home
— As an out-law in a castle keeps, and useth it to patronage his theft
Out on thee, villain
Out-paramour'd. And in woman out-paramour'd the Turk
Out-peer. Could not out-peer these twain
Outrages. You do no outrages on silly women or poor passengers
— Uncivil outrages
— She will do desperate outrage on herself
— O, preposterous and frantick outrage, end thy damned spleen
— Seal up the mouth of outrage for a while, 'till we can clear these ambiguities
Out-run. Can we out-run the heavens? good Margaret stay Out-sell. Her pretty action did out-sell her gift — From every one the best she hath, and she of all compounded, out-sells them all Out-speaks. Which I find at such proud rate, that it out-speaks possession of a subject
Out-stare. He's gone to the king; I'll follow, and out-stare him
Out-stood. I have out-stood my time
Out-stretch'd. With an out-stretch'd throat, I'll tell the world, aloud, what man thou art
Out-strip all praise, and make it halt behind her
— If thou wilt out-strip death, go cross the seas
Out-tongue. My services, which I have done the signiory, shall out-tongue his complaints
Out-vied. By your firm promise; Gremio is out-vied
Out upon thee. There's too much out upon thee! I'll pray thee, let me in Out-wall. For confirmation that I am much more than my out-wall, open this purse
Outward. But like a common and an outward man

Outward. I do not think so fair an outward, and such stuff within, endows a man but he Out-ward. Come, come away! the sun is high, and we outwear the day
Out-worths. A beggar's look out-worths a noble's blood Ouzel. As is the ouzel and bottom of the sea with sunken wreck
Ouzel. Alas, a black ouzel, cousin Shallow
Ouzel.
Ow'dst. Shall ever med'cine thee to that sweet sleep which thou ow'dst yesterday Owes. This is no mortal business, nor no found the earth owes — If not a foedary, but only he, owe, and succeed by weakness
— What art thou, that keep'st me out from the house I owe
— I will owe thee an answer
— To parley with the sole inheritor of all perfections that a man may owe — Churl, upon thy eyes I throw all the power this charm doth owe
— My heart will not confess, he owes the malady that does my life besiege
— I am not worthy of the wealth I owe — Better 'twere that all the miseries which nature owes were mine at once — The jeweller that owes the ring is sent for — The service and the loyalty I owe, in doing it, pays itself
— Which owe the crown that thou o'er-mastereft
— Well, fee to live: I will not touch thine eye, for all the treasure that thine uncle owes — What is the gross sum that I owe thee?—Marry if thou wert an honest man, thyself and the money too
— I owe them still my life and services
— One time will owe another
— Bear our hack'd targets like the men that owe them
— What a full fortune does the thick lips owe, if he can carry 't thus Ow'd. Beseech you, Sir, remember since you ow'd no more to time than I do now — To throw away the dearest thing he ow'd as 'twere a careless trifle
— That blood which ow'd the breadth of all this isle, three foot of it doth hold Ow'st. Thou dost here usurp the name thou ow'st not — Lend less than thou ow'st
Owls. There I couch where owls do cry
— We talk with goblins, owls, and elvish sprights
— Good night, my good owl
— Some keep back the clamorous owl that nightly hoots, and wonders at our quaint spirits
— It was the owl that shriek'd, the fatal bellman, which gives the stern'st good night
— I heard the owl scream, and the crickets cry
— A falcon, tow'ring in her pride of place was by a mousing owl hawk'd at and kill'd — For night-owls shriek, where mounting larks should sing
— Thou ominous and fearful owl of death
— And boding scritch owls make the concert full
— Our soldiers—like the night-owl's lazy flight
— Bring forth that fatal scritch owl to our house — And like the owl by day, if he arise, he mock'd and wond'ring at — The owl shriek'd at thy birth
— Out on ye, owls! nothing but songs of death
— The bird of night did sit, even at noon day, upon the market place, hooting and shrieking
— Here nothing breeds, unless the nightly owl, or fatal raven
— I bade the vile owl go learn me the tenour of the proclamation, and he rails upon me — To be a comrade with the wolf and owl
— The owl was a baker's daughter
Own. The noble duke hath sworn, his coming is but for his own
Owself. To thine ownself be true
Ox. The ox hath therefore stretch'd his yoke in vain
— As the ox hath his bow, Sir, so man hath his desires Oxen, and wain-ropes, cannot hale them together — And we shall feed like oxen at a stall, the better cherish'd still the nearer death
Ox-head. I'd set an ox-head, to your lion's hide, and make a monster of you

Seely,

	A.	S.	P.	C.	L.
Seely , Sir Bennet
Seem . I must not seem proud
— I'll make him glad to seem Vincentio — More than I seem, and less than I was born to — Nay, it is; I know not seems
— These, indeed, seem, for they are actions that a man might play
Seemed I ever otherwise to you?—Out on thy seeming—You seem to me a Dian in her orb
Seemers . Then shall we see if power change purpose what our seemers be Seeming . Pluck the borrow'd veil of modesty from the so seeming Mrs. Page — False seeming
— Bear your body more seeming
— For you there's rosemary and rue, these keep seeming and savour
— And to raze out rotten opinion, who hath writ me down after my seeming — You sign your place and calling, in full seeming, with meekness and humility — Such to-be-pitied, and o'er-ruled seeming he acts thy greatness in — He hath a kind of honour sets him off, more than a mortal seeming — Not seeming so worthy as thy birth
— Nor my heart that thought her like her seeming
— This hath some seeming
— If aught within that little seeming substance, or all of it
— That under covert and convenient seeming hast practis'd on man's life
— Unseemly woman, in a seeming man
— My most seeming-virtuous queen
— We will both our judgments join in censure of his seeming — Than these thin habits and poor likelihoods of modern seeming — Putting on the mere form of civil and humane seeming
— She that, so young, could give out such a seeming, to feel her father's eyes up, close as oak Seen . Then to have seen much, and to have nothing, is to have rich eyes, and poor hands
— As a schoolmaster well seen in music
Seeth . Go suck the subtle blood o' the grape, till the high fever seeth your blood to froth
— I will make a complimentary assault upon him, for my business seeths
Seething . Lovers and madmen have such seething brains
Segregation . A segregation of the Turkish fleet
Seiz'd . Did forfeit with his life, all those lands, which he stood seiz'd of Seizure . To whose soft seizure the cygnet's down is harsh, and spirit of sense hard as the palm of ploughman
Seld . If I might in entreaties find success, (as seld I have the chance)
Seld-sown flamens do press among the popular throngs
Seleucus . D. P.
Self . My other self
— I have a kind of self resides with you
— Swear by thy gracious self, which is the God of my idolatry
Self-affairs . Being over full of self affairs, my mind did lose it
Self-assumption . In self assumption greater, than in the note of judgment
Self-bounty . I would not have your free and noble nature, out of self-bounty, be abus'd — Unless self-charity be sometime a vice
Self-comparisons . Confronted him with self-comparisons
Self-cover'd . Thou changed and self-cover'd thing
Self-endear'd . She is so self-endear'd
Self-exhibition . To be partner'd with tom-boys, hir'd with that self-exhibition which your own coffers yield
Self-figur'd . To knit their souls in self-figur'd knot
Self-love , my liege, is not so vile a sin, as self-neglecting
— He that is truly dedicate to war, hath no self-love
Self-mis-us'd . Thyself is self-mis-us'd
Self-mould . That self-mould that fashioned thee, made him a man
Self-reproving . He is full of alteration and self-reproving
Self-slaughter . Against self-slaughter there is a prohibition so divine, that cravens my weak hand

Smell

20	Snail.	Ay, of a snail; for though he comes slowly, he carries his house on his head, a
13		better jointure, I think, than you can make a woman, besides he brings his destiny
42		with him
36	—	But I can tell why a snail has a house
7	—	Why, to put his head in; not to give it away to his daughters, and leave his horns
27		without a case
5	Snail-pac'd	beggary
35	—	Bid the snail-pac'd Ajax arm for shame
25	Snail-slow	in profit
59	Snake.	And there the snake throws her enamell'd skin; weed wide enough to wrap a
4		fairy in
20	—	You spotted snakes, with double tongue
42	—	I see love hath made thee a tame snake
44	—	About his neck a green and gilded snake had wreath'd itself
36	—	We have scotch'd the snake, not kill'd it, she'll close, and be herself
6	—	Fillet of a fenny snake
18	—	In my heart-blood warm'd, that sting my heart
46	—	I fear me, you but warm the starved snake, who, cherish'd in your breasts, will
23		sting your heart
55	—	Or as the snake, roll'd on a flowering bank, with shining checker'd slough, doth
44		sting a child
48	—	The snake lies roll'd in the cheerful sun
42	—	Comfortless, as frozen water to a starved snake
39	Snap.	If the young dace be a bait for the old pike, I see no reason in the law of na-
43		ture but I may snap at him
58	Snapper-up.	Who being, as I am, litter'd under Mercury, was likewise a snapper-up of
46		unconfider'd trifles
32	Snare.	D. P.
29	Snar'd.	'Till they have snar'd the shepherd of the flock
60	Snatch.	Why then, it seems, some certain snatch or so, would serve your turns
53	Snatch'd.	I am afraid, the life of Helen, lady, was foully snatch'd
50	Snatchers.	We do not mean the courting snatchers only, but fear the main intendment
52		of the Scot
54	Snatches.	Leave your snatches, and yield me a direct answer
39	—	She chaunted snatches of old tunes
45	Sneak.	And see if thou can find out Sneak's noise
36	Sneak-cup.	How! the prince is a Jack, a sneak-cup
20	Sneaking.	What sneaking fellow comes yonder
35	Sneek up
43	Sneap.	I will not undergo this sneap without reply
23	Sneaping.	Biron is like an envious sneaping frost
36	—	That may blow no sneaping winds
22	Snip.	Keep not too long in one tune, but a snip and away
35	Snipe.	For I mine own gain'd knowledge should profane, if I should time expend with
43		such a snipe
23	Snipt-taffata.	Your son was misled with a snipt-taffata fellow there
36	Snore.	Sleep and snore, and rend apparel out
6	Snorting.	Fast asleep behind the arras, and snorting like a horse
39	—	Awake the snorting citizens
12	Snow.	The white cold virgin snow
28	—	To kindle fire with snow
53	—	Let it snow eringoes
38	—	Sap-consuming winter's drizled snow
28	—	That pure, congealed, white, high Taurus' snow, fann'd with the eastern wind
39		turns to a crow when thou hold'st thy hand
41	—	Hot ice, and wond'rous strange snow
11	—	Black Macbeth will seem as pure as snow
42	—	As a little snow, tumbled about, anon becomes a mountain
5	—	Oh, that I were a mockery king of snow, standing before the sun, of Bolingbroke, to 54		melt myself away in water drops
mail.	—	Rush on his host, as doth the melted snow upon the vallies
	—	Cold snow melts with the sun's hot beams
	—	I thought her chaste as unfunn'd snow
	—	He is kind—Right, as snow in harvest

6 The Union between England and Scotland, being an extremely interesting Event, has led the Publisher to imagine, that a new Edition of this Work of De Foe, which is grown very scarce, would be acceptable to the Public, especially at the present Time, when the Situation of Affairs in Ireland induces many Persons to wish that a similar Union between Great-Britain and that Kingdom may take Place; as it may cause such an Union, if not to be effected, at least to be proposed, and to become, for a Time, the Subject of Debate in both Countries.

7 Historical Tracts. By Sir John Davies, Attorney-General, and Speaker of the House of Commons in Ireland; consisting of, 1. A Discovery of the true Cause why Ireland was never brought under Obedience to the Crown of England. 2. A Letter to the Earl of Salisbury, on the State of Ireland in 1607. 3. A Letter to the Earl of Salisbury in 1610, giving an Account of the Plantation in Ulster. 4. A Speech to the Lord Deputy in 1613, tracing the ancient Constitution of Ireland.
